

Why Hire Me?

Let's face it; when it comes to hiring a speaker for your event, there are as many choices out there as there are flavors of ice cream or places to grab a hamburger.

It's an important decision. You want the right fit. That only makes sense for you and for the audience.

Here are some reasons I just might qualify:

JIM DAVIS

Experience	I've been involved in training adults for three decades. The scope has been wide, and the audience varied. This has helped hone my delivery skills and my ability to connect.
Engagement	While media serves a purpose, if participants are not active, out of their seats, and otherwise involved in the content, then there's little chance the material will stick. I'm light on lecture and heavy on engagement.
Ego-less	It's hard to follow someone with a big head (ego). I think that's true in leadership as well as listening to a facilitator. If you want someone easy to work with and will serve your team with authenticity, that's always been my approach.
Excellence	Quality matters. The best product won't matter if it's not delivered the best. You can expect a spirit of excellence from me every time.

CLIENTS SERVED

I have a passion for developing people that has found me everywhere from the board room, classroom, the federal prison, and many places in between.

I am a graduate of Southwestern University and hold a Masters Degree in Leadership. I live in Currituck NC with my wife, Karen and the Princess of the Universe, Abigail.
